Not a Subscription customer yet?

Subscription helps you get the most out of your Autodesk software with a broad range of benefits:

- Automatically receive any upgrades released during your Subscription term. It's the most cost-effective way to keep your software up-to-date.

- Predictable budgeting because your software costs are known for the term of your Subscription.
- Flexible software rights* that lets users access software in the office and at home and entitles designers to use previous software versions (up to three versions back, for most products).
- e-Learning lessons that give you a quick and easy way to learn about your software's features and functionality.

- One-to-one web support with Autodesk support technicians for answers to installation, configuration, and troubleshooting questions.

To learn more, contact your Autodesk Authorized Reseller or Autodesk Sales Representative.

* Subscription Advantage Packs cannot be accessed from within all 2010 software products. Products that do not provide in-product access to Subscription Advantage Packs include Autodesk Navisworks Simulate, Autodesk Navisworks Manage, Autodesk Navisworks Review, Autodesk Showcase, and Autodesk Showcase Professional. Access to Subscription Advantage Packs also depends on permissions set and controlled by your organization's Autodesk Contract Manager.

 Flexible licensing rights, including previous version and home use rights, are available for up to three versions back for most products, subject to certain conditions and may not be available for all software programs or in all locations.
